Origin and Aim

THIEL COLLEGE, located at Greenville, Pa., is an institution of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and it bears the name of Mr. Louis A. Thiel, a devout member of that body. Mr. Thiel bequeathed most of his estate to the endowment of this institution, and his desire to have the work of a decidedly Christian character has ever been kept in mind by those who have had charge of the College. A large percentage of the graduates of Thiel College are engaged in the active work of the Christian ministry, while many others are ornamenting the various learned professions and the pursuits of business; this fact demonstrates that the institution has not failed in its mission.

The institution was founded at Philipsburg (now Monaca), Pa., as a preparatory school in 1866, and was chartered as a college in 1870 when the work was begun in the present location at Greenville.

In addition to the classical and general scientific courses extending through the four years of college, an academic department offering three years of preparatory work is maintained for the benefit of those who have not had sufficient preparation to be admitted to the Freshman class. A high curriculum has always been maintained, and comparison with the courses offered by similar institutions is invited.

Location and Equipment

THE BOROUGH OF GREENVILLE, in which the College is located, is a most beautiful town of about 7500 inhabitants, and it has the high moral and intellectual tone which is so much to be desired in a college town. The city is located in Mercer County in the northwestern part of Pennsylvania, and through it flows the Shenango River which is formed here by the union of two smaller streams which bear the same name. Three great railway lines—the Erie, the Bessemer, and the Erie & Pittsburgh—make Greenville easily accessible from all parts of the country.

The College buildings are four in number—Greenville Hall, containing recitation rooms, laboratories, chapel, library, etc.; Ridgeway Hall, containing rooms for young men and the college dining-room; Daily Hall, donated by Mr. Jesse Daily, a dormitory for young women; and one professor's residence. Both of the dormitory buildings have modern conveniences and offer very comfortable quarters for the students. The College grounds consist of about twenty-five acres of finely situated land, including a beautiful grove of native trees. The river with its boating and skating, the large campus, and the beautiful country surrounding the College offer excellent opportunities for healthful and interesting out-door exercise.

Junior (classical).—History of modern Europe. Particular attention to the origin and development of the present European governments.

Junior.—Constitutional law; international law; commercial law.

Senior.—Economics, two terms. Sociology, one term.

PHILOSOPHY AND CHRISTIAN EVIDENCES.

---

Junior.—Psychology, half year. The student is introduced to the field of philosophy through the study of the nature of the human mind.

Logic, half year. The laws of thought, a natural continuation of the study of psychology.

Senior.—Ethics, “the science of moral philosophy, which teaches men their duty.”

History of philosophy. An examination of the various systems of philosophy from the ancient times to the present day.

Evidences of Christianity. Proofs of the authenticity and the historical value of the Gospel narrative.

MYTHOLOGY, ART, AND AESTHETICS.

---

Senior (classical).—Mythology. A study in the English language of the mythologies of the ancient Greeks, Romans, and other peoples, and of their part in the literature of the world.

Art. The history of the several fine arts, including the study of some of the more celebrated masterpieces.

Aesthetics, or the science of the beautiful, closely allied to the study of the fine arts.

Department of Music

IN this department, instruction is given in piano, organ, and voice, and students are received at any stage of advancement. For the most part, private instruction is given, and the instructors arrange courses peculiarly adapted to the needs of the individual students and such as will advance each one most rapidly in the direction of his particular aim. By this system, the student's advancement from grade to grade is made to depend upon the progress of which his daily work gives evidence. All students in vocal and instrumental music receive instruction in theory, and a special course in harmony and counterpoint is offered.

The college is equipped with a number of pianos and reed-organs, and an arrangement has been made whereby the college has the use of the pipe organ in the Greenville Lutheran church.

All of the students of the institution will have an opportunity to participate in chorus singing, with systematic instruction and frequent drill. This is proved by experience to be a most valuable exercise.

Department of Oratory

THE work of this department is adapted especially to the needs of those who are pursuing the regular college courses, but it is of great value to others, as well. Self-control, self-adjustment, self-expression are three attributes that distinguish the cultured man from the uncultured, and the aim of the work in oratory is to secure these three essentials to those who are studying the art of public speaking. The Emerson system of instruction is used, and the text-books are Emerson's "Evolution of Expression" and "Perfective Laws of Art." Most careful attention is given by the instructor to the philosophy of gesture and to voice-culture. Class instruction can readily be arranged in this department.

Physical Culture and Athletics

REGULAR classes in gymnastic drill have been conducted in one of the larger rooms in Greenville Hall, and a movement is now on foot to provide the college with a suitable gymnasium. The systematic work of the gymnasium floor is of incalculable benefit to both sexes, and the work can be adapted to the needs of both the strong and the weak. The students have also enjoyed the exercise afforded by the games of base-ball and lawn-tennis, for both of which the college has excellent grounds.

RIDGEWAY HALL

Expenses

The charges per year are as follows:

*Tuition in the Collegiate and Academic Departments . . . . .		$30.00
Contingent Fee Collegiate and Academic Departments . . . . .		20.00
Room-rent and boarding . . . . .		126.00
DEPT. OF MUSIC	Piano, Voice, Reed Organ—Two lessons a week, with free use of instrument for practice one period a day . . . . .	54.00
	Piano, Voice, Reed Organ—One lesson a week, with free use of instrument for practice one period a day . . . . .	30.00
	Harmony—One lesson a week . . . . .	27.00
DEPT. OF ORATORY	One lesson a week . . . . .	24.00
	Two lessons a week . . . . .	39.00

From the above figures it will be seen that one's necessary expenses while at college need not exceed the remarkably low sum of $200.

*By special provision, the children of Lutheran clergymen and of Lutheran teachers in church schools are exempted from the payment of tuition in the collegiate and academic departments.

**All students in the collegiate and academic departments are required to pay the contingent fee, whether they pay tuition, use scholarships, or are exempted from the payment of tuition.

***To students continuing in the dormitories and dining-hall during stated vacations an additional charge, pro rata, is made.

EXPENSES.

---

ALL bills are payable by the term in advance, and payment must be made at the College Office in Greenville Hall.

Candidates for degrees must pay a graduation fee of $5.00 at the beginning of the spring term, and diplomas are issued without further charge.

To cover damage done to property by students, each student is required to make a deposit of $1.00 on entering the institution each year. The unexpended balance is returned.

Discipline and Religious Influence

ALTHOUGH but few rules have been formulated for the government of the students, each one is expected to conduct himself as a Christian gentleman, and the same good order that prevails in a well-regulated home is required in and about the college buildings. In the town, as well as on the campus, the student's behavior is to be correct in all particulars. Those whose habits are positively vicious will not be retained as students.

Religious instruction is a part of the curriculum in all regular courses in the College and the Academic department. All students are required to be present at the daily morning worship in the chapel, and also to attend divine worship on the Lord's Day at the Evangelical Lutheran Church, unless excused at the written request of parents or guardians.

General Information

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

---

APPPLICANTS for admission to the Freshman class must present evidence of having completed the course prescribed for the Academic department, or they must pass examination in the various preparatory branches. Students may, in fact, be admitted to any class upon satisfying the faculty that the work of lower classes has been completed. Detailed information as to the exact requirements in each subject will be furnished on request.

Due credit will be given for work completed in other approved schools or colleges, but substitutions can be allowed only by special action of the faculty.

In all cases, evidence of good moral character is required, and students from other institutions must have been honorably dismissed.

EXAMINATIONS.

REGULAR EXAMINATIONS are held at the close of each scholastic term, or on the completion of a subject. For special examinations given a fee of $1.00 is charged for each study.

A report including the standing, absences, and deportment of the student is sent to his parents or guardian.

DEGREES.

---

UPON graduation, those who have completed the Classical Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and those completing the Scientific Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The degree of Master of Arts is conferred upon graduates who, having been admitted regularly to the office of the ministry, the profession of law, or that of medicine, make written application to the faculty and present a satisfactory thesis; upon others at the direction of the authorities.

STUDENTS' LITERARY ORGANIZATIONS

---

THE students of the college maintain three literary societies, the Chrysostomos and the Chrestomathean for young men, and the Clionian for young women. Every student is expected to become a member of one of these organizations and to faithfully perform the duties required. The Thielensian, the college journal published monthly during the scholastic year, is managed by the literary societies. This periodical not only serves as a means of communication between the college and its alumni, but it affords the student an excellent opportunity to present to the public any well-prepared literary productions, such as essays and orations, on various subjects, which from time to time may result from his labors in class-room, library, or society hall.

LIBRARY.

---

ALL students have free use of the college library consisting of over 9,000 bound volumes and several thousand pamphlets. The general index system, now in preparation, will render the library more useful and its contents more readily accessible. To the earnest student, the value of a well equipped library, consisting of works of reference and of literature, cannot be overestimated. The reading room in connection with the library contains an assortment of magazines and newspapers.

ROOMS AND FURNITURE.

UNLESS excused, students are required to reside in the college buildings. Each room is intended for two students, and is supplied with heat and light without extra charge. The school furnishes bedroom suit with springs and mattress, toilet set, carpet and chairs. Students are expected to furnish pillows, sheets and other bed clothes, and towels. Students are required to take care of their own rooms.

TEXT-BOOKS AND SUPPLIES.

TEXT-BOOKS and school supplies can be obtained in the College Book Store, which is maintained solely for the benefit of the students. In view of this fact and in order to reduce the extra work imposed in this department to the minimum, all students should come prepared to pay for books and other supplies when purchased in order to avoid the necessity of opening accounts.

Students are advised, however, to bring with them whatever text-books and works of reference they may have in their possession.

Acknowledgments

The institution hereby makes grateful acknowledgment of accessions to library and reading-room received during the year 1908-1909 from the following sources: General Council Publication House, of Philadelphia; Rev. F. W. Kohler, of Rochester, Pa.; First Lutheran Church, Pittsburgh; Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Gifts to Thiel College

PERSONS who feel inclined to make Thiel College the special object of their beneficence may, by corresponding with the Faculty or Board of Trustees, become informed of the particular needs of the institution. Additions to the equipment and furnishment of the various departments are always in order, and the management will be glad to advise those who contemplate making any contributions of this kind.

BEQUESTS.

Those who wish to promote, by bequest, the cause of Christian Education can do no better than to make Thiel College a participant in their estates upon their decease.

To be valid, a bequest in Pennsylvania must be executed at least thirty days, and in New York sixty days, before the death of the testator. For the convenience of friends who desire to bestow gifts upon the College the following form is suggested:

I give, devise and bequeath to the Trustees of Thiel College of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, an institution of learning established by the Pittsburgh Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and located at Greenville, Mercer County, Pa., the sum of-----Dollars (or, if real estate, give designation or description of the property), for the general purposes of the College.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH, GREENVILLE, PA.
